PROBABLE CAUSE STATEMENT

On June 4, 2008 at approximately 6:30 am, Border Patrol Dispatch advised Agents of a seismic intrusion device activation in an area known as "South Grapevine." This area is approximately two miles west of the Tecate, California Port of Entry, and one mile north of the international boundary between the United States and Mexico.

Border Patrol Agent A. Matos responded to the area and found five sets of footprints leading northbound. Agent Matos followed the footprints and found five individuals hiding in the brush. Agent Matos identified himself as a United States Border Patrol Agent and conducted an immigration inspection. All five individuals, including one later identified as the defendant Miguel BARRERA-Lucas, stated that they were born in Mexico and are all Mexican citizens without any United States Immigration documents. All five were placed under arrest and transported them to the Brown Field Border Patrol Station for processing.

Routine record checks of the defendant revealed a criminal and immigration history. The defendant's record was determined by a comparison of his criminal record and the defendant's current fingerprint card. Official immigration records of the Department of Homeland Security revealed the defendant was previously deported to Mexico on May 14, 2008 through the Port of Entry at Nogales, Arizona. These same records show that the defendant has not applied for permission from the Attorney General of the United States or his designated successor, the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security, to return to the United States after being removed.
